In 2015, the Green Family Auto Group acquired the site where the landmark Continental Inn stood in Lexington for decades. Demolished in 2008, this site had been a blight on the city landscape and needed redevelopment. This site would become the new home for Infiniti of Lexington, a dealership that had also been purchased by the Green family. Working with Infiniti's corporate design team, Million Architecture developed a design that would be the first of the new "top sail" prototype adaptations constructed in the north American market. After received bid proposals from pre-qualified contractors, Branscum Construction was selected to build the project. In concert with Woodall Construction, who was retained to re-shape the landscape and raise the building pad, the construction was completed in 9 months. Upon completion, Jeff Lam, Infiniti Regional Project Manager, stated that this was the best execution of the design and construction that he had observed.
